The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

AS THE BIG chiefs go into action at Quebec to grease the skids for Nazidom it strikes me that we might well pause for a touch of the cap to our gallant fighting services which have continued to hold our Pacific lines while we have been engaged in "beating Hitler first".

It gives one a chill to think what might have happened to Australia, the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska or even the west coast of continental United States if it hadn't been for the skill and sacrifice of all categories in the far Pacific. They've done one of the decisive jobs of the war.

Our latest aerial success yesterday and Tuesday at Wewak, New Guinea, is a reminder that not only have our Pacific forces performed the essential holding operation against a powerful enemy, but they have done the "impossible" by seizing the initiative and putting the Japs on the defensive. In the Wewak show our bombers destroyed or damaged some 215 precious enemy planes, thereby virtually wiping out Japanese airpower in central New Guinea.

The significance? Well, that beautiful job brings us just so much closer to the day when we shall wipe out the great Jap naval base at Truk, thus rendering the Mikado's forces impotent in that whole vast zone of islands north-east of Australia. The little men of the Rising Sun are being forced back step by step.

Meantime in the "Hitler first" campaign, Moscow reports that the Germans are counter-attacking before Kharkov on the fiercely contested southern battle-front, seeking an opening for an offensive to offset the devastating Red drive. Such a development would greatly intensify the already bloody crisis which is threatening to force the Nazi chief to withdraw his entire grand line in Russia.

ENEMY LANDING ATTEMPT FAILS

U. S. Warships Drive Off Japs at Vella Lavella; Barges Are Sunk

(By Associated Press)

Admiral William F. Halsey's headquarters announced today American forces bloodily smashed a Japanese sea-borne attempt to land on newly captured Vella Lavella island, in the northern Solomons, killing or capturing hundreds of Japanese troops and putting four enemy escort destroyers to flight.

Out of 1,500 to 2,000 Japanese soldiers, jammed aboard 20 to 30 big barges, not more than 300 were believed to have reached shore.

A communiqué from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said a majority of the barges were sunk. American warships intercepted the Japanese attack force Tuesday night off Vella gulf. A spokesman said the enemy destroyers "took off for home," but the Americans engaged them and in a half-hour battle in bright moonlight scored damage, sinking one and probably another.

Small Groups Reach Shore

As the enemy fled, the Americans turned back to go after the Japanese landing barges, blasting them out of the water before all but a few could reach shore.

A spokesman said there were unquestionable "small groups" of Japanese on the island, but so far there had been no ground action. Those who succeeded in landing apparently slipped into the jungles.

One the New Guinea front, dispatches said American and Australian troops scored new gains in their drive within five miles of the big Japanese air base at Salamaua. Salamaua itself was described as largely in ruins from a tempest of more than 1,000 tons of bombs dropped on the stronghold by Allied planes in the past month.

American jungle fighters strengthened their holdings on Roosevelt ridge on the west shore of Tambora, pushing the enemy along the ridge top toward the sea, while Australians encircled 700 Japanese infantrymen in a mile-wide pocket at Goodview ridge, near Mt. Tambora.

The Americans and Canadians were now only two miles apart.

War Strategy Conference Speeds European Invasion

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

QUEBEC, Aug. 19.—A speed-up in Allied plans for the invasion of Europe to take full advantage of the Russian offensive on Germany's eastern flank appeared today to be a likely result of the current British-American strategy conferences here.

As President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their command staffs went into the second full day of meetings, the sustained Russian campaign, winning a success equal to the most optimistic hopes of Allied observers, shaped up as the greatest single war development before them.

In the general picture of war strategy aimed at the eventual smashing of Germany it overshadowed even the swift Allied triumph in Sicily as well as the indications that an invasion of the Italian mainland was in progress of preparation.

For, as military observers here evaluate the situation, Germany is so heavily occupied with advancing Russian armies at present and even her vital rear positions in the east are so gravely threatened that a European invasion in the near future would tax her defensive resources to the utmost.

How fully these considerations have entered into the discussions here could only be estimated. Since the President's arrival Monday there has been no word from the Chateau Frontenac or the historic Citadel, scenes of the conferences, to give any inkling of the nature or progress of the talks.

There is speculation in connection with Mr. Roosevelt's scheduled visit to the Canadian capital at Ottawa next week that the Canadian parliament might hold a special meeting to hear him speak.

Speculation over the part which the Russian offensive is playing in these discussions is concerned against Germany's western flank. Military men agree that the time to hit this side of Germany is when the Nazi military machine is off-balance in the east.

Would Aid Russians

Such timing, it is noted, would not only limit the reserves of men and munitions which the Germans could throw into counter attacks but also would weaken the resistance to the Russian advances and prove a powerful factor in keeping the Red armies rolling.

This latter purpose apparently is the main one.

SEE FURTHER MINE STOPPAGES HALTED

Workers' Shifts Lengthened to 8 Hours; Stroke Penalties Severe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Some government officials expressed hope today new opportunities for the miners to fatten their pay envelopes on the one hand, and stiff penalties for striking on the other, might prove to be the pattern for averting another coal strike.

Higher earnings will be possible for most miners when Secretary Ickes lengthens the productive shift from seven to eight hours soon. While the mines will have to work longer to increase their pay, they will receive time and a half for the eighth hour.

Penalties will strike at the treasury of the United Mine Workers under the compliance weapon which President Roosevelt handed to the War Labor board yesterday. There was one notable omission from this policy. It does not require signatures on a contract as evidence of compliance. Observance of the terms and conditions of a WLB order will be the test of compliance.

When UMW President John L. Lewis and his policy committee announced their unilateral agreement, effective until Oct. 31, they said it would "automatically terminate" if the mines were turned back to their owners sooner.

When Lewis laid down those terms he also was defying, or ignoring, the War Labor board.

Since then, Congress enacted the War Labor Disputes act. Also, since then, Lewis has recognized the board and appeared before it in support of a proposed contract between the union and Illinois operators. The latest factor with which Lewis must reckon is the executive order under which the government may withhold the union dues it checks off until such time as the union leadership complies. If individuals are at fault they may lose their occupational draft deferment, or be prosecuted under the War Labor Disputes act.

These developments since the UMW agreed to work only for the government up to a deadline of Oct. 31 may prompt the union leadership to modify its position.

Wellsville Potter Dies After Traffic Accident

WELLSVILLE, Aug. 19.—Robert C. Lee, 60, died yesterday of injuries suffered Aug. 3 when he was struck by a Valley Motor Transit Co. bus. His death brings to 13 the number of Columbiana county traffic fatalities this year.

Born in Washington county, he had been a resident here 30 years. He was employed as kiln drawer by the Homer Laughlin China Co. and was a member of the National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the MacLean funeral home.

French General Killed

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 19.—Gen. Louis-Marie Koeltz, commander of the French Nineteenth corps, has been killed in action, it was disclosed today.

The death of the general, whose troops fought alongside the British First army in the Tunisian campaign, was disclosed with announcement of a posthumous Legion of Merit award.

Dalton Commissioned

LISBON, Aug. 19.—Archie W. Dalton, former executive secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health league, has received a commission as ensign in the U. S. Navy.

He was inducted into service in June and will be sent now to Princeton university for navy indoctrination.

ITALY IS AGAIN SUBJECTED TO BOMBARDMENT

Beaten Axis Troops deprived of Respite As Coastal Areas Are Shelled

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 19.—American warships shelled the Italian mainland yesterday for the first time, developing violent explosions at Gioia Tauro and Palmi, and Allied air fleets deprived beaten Axis troops of respite by pounding concentrations throughout southern Italy, it was announced today.

"United States naval forces which had been supporting the advance of the U. S. Seventh army in Sicily have taken up shelling military objectives on the Italian mainland now that the island has fallen," a communiqué said.

Specific targets of the first thrust were bridges and power installations at Gioia Tauro and Palmi, on the Gulf of Gioia 20 miles north of captured Messina.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Germans are moving troops into Italy in considerable strength apparently intending to make a real fight for at least the northern end of that country, a competent British military informant said today.

"Several divisions" have been on the move to Italy from France and Germany in the last week or two, but an exact estimate of Nazi strength in Italy is not possible now.

Light bombers and fighter bombers carried out attacks on roads and railways which might be employed by the remnants of German and Italian forces which escaped from Sicily, hitting the tracks and destroying enemy vehicles.

Ground Activity Limited

"Medium bombers attacked bridges at Angitola and roads and rail communications at Ponte Di Staletti," it was announced.

Ground activity was "limited to occasional exchanges of artillery fire across the Strait of Messina."

Headquarters announced that fighter-bombers left a small Axis naval vessel in a sinking condition off southern Sardinia and medium bombers sank an enemy merchant craft in the Gulf of Eufemia, just north of the Gulf of Gioia.

"The Bizerte area was again attacked by enemy aircraft last night," an aerial communiqué said. "Six enemy bombers were shot down. Two enemy aircraft were destroyed on the night of Aug. 17 in addition to those already reported."

From all operations, three Allied aircraft are missing, the bulletin said.

Palmi and Gioia Tauro are located on the western side of the mainland where the Gulf of Gioia makes a deep inlet in the coast. Palmi is the larger municipality and is nearer Messina than Gioia Tauro.

While the American Seventh army was advancing along the northern coast of Sicily, U. S. warships frequently lent support by smashing enemy concentrations and reported.

Farm Workers Told Jobs Are Deferable

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19.—Lt. Col. Carl G. Wahl, War Manpower commission officer for state Selective Service, assured farm workers today they need not be alarmed because their jobs failed to appear on the WMC's latest list of deferrable occupations.

"Registrants engaged in essential agricultural pursuits are deferrable as long as they are so engaged," Wahl declared.

The manpower official clarified the status of the farm worker after he was informed State Agriculture Director John T. Brown had written WMC Chief Paul V. McNutt the new deferrable classifications did not list "farm laborer" and "farm manager."

In his letter to McNutt, Brown said: "At this critical hour, you should do everything possible to avoid further discouragement of the farmers who are faithfully working long hours in the field."

Wahl remarked that agricultural labor was "almost frozen" as a deferrable group under Selective Service regulations.

Sailors Will Break Long Tradition At Wellesley

WELLESLEY, MASS., Aug. 19.—The 73-year-old exclusively feminine complexion of Wellesley college will take on a masculine tinge about Oct. 1.

Two hundred male supply officers will be transferred on that date from the Naval supply corps school at Harvard university, because of an overflow, and they will take over some of the most time-honored quarters at Wellesley.

PLANE KILLS THREE CHILDREN AT PLAY

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 19.—Army interceptor planes banked and turned in the morning sun. Planes in combat maneuvers were no novelty to the 20,000 residents of Linda Vista, a federal housing project.

Two of the P-38s collided, the pilot of one bailed out. The other fell with his crippled ship.

There was a splintering crash and explosion.

Three children busy at games were blown to bits.

The pilot was blown through a porch roof.

Machin-gun ammunition exploded for 20 minutes. No one was reported injured by the bullets, however.

The pilot who died in his plane was identified as First Lieut. John C. Damron, 23, of Williamson, W. Va. The other P-38 crashed in a canyon. The pilot suffered only minor injuries.

Files for Recount

SEBRING, Aug. 19.—Leslie Hawk, who apparently was defeated by E. F. Harmon, former Sebring mayor, by one vote for the Democratic nomination for mayor at the Aug. 10 primary, has filed application with the Mahoning county board of elections at Youngstown for a recount.

The recount will be made either Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Where Do We Strike Next?

THE SUCCESSFUL CULMINATION of the Sicilian campaign brings speculation as to where Allied might hit next from that island. A temptation are the islands of Sardinia and Corsica, both having excellent air fields. In Allied hands these would serve as bases to rain bombs on Germans entrenched in the Po Valley and on northern Italian industrial cities. In addition, the islands could serve as possible invasion bases to reach Italy's west coast. A drive on Sardinia and Corsica would be backed up by Allied bombers in Tunisia, while those in the Near East would attack the heel of the Italian boot. (International)

ZMIEV SEIZED BY RED TROOPS

Russians Cross Donets River To Capture German Stronghold

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The British radio, in a broadcast recorded by NBC, reported today Russian forces had moved to within nine miles south of Kharkov.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Aug. 19.—Red army troops, sogging the way ahead through dogged German resistance south of Kharkov, today were approaching the two remaining railway escape lines supplying the beleaguered Nazi garrison inside the key Ukraine bastion.

A Soviet communiqué last night announced the capture of Zmyev, 20 miles south of Kharkov, in a "decisive assault" which smashed that enemy stronghold and killed 1,200 Hitler shock troops. Zmyev is less than 10 miles from the Kharkov-Lozovaya railway, main enemy supply line.

A few miles beyond lies the Kharkov-Krasnodar spur, which also must be severed before the Russians can close the Kharkov escape corridor, now less than 30 miles wide. The Kharkov-Poltava railroad had been cut earlier in the Red offensive.

Northwest and west of Kharkov the Russians also reported overall gains of seven miles which resulted in capture of more than 50 additional towns and villages. Stubbornly contesting every fortified place, the Germans slowly fell back after suffering another 2,000 casualties, the communiqué said.

Confiscate War Booty

In the northeastern suburbs of shell-wrecked Kharkov, meanwhile, Soviet shock troops kept up the see-saw street-to-street battle against reinforced Nazi units which were blowing up the city.

Council To Decide On Slowing Clocks Again

Salem city councilmen have "time" on their hands again. The solons may decide at their next meeting, Sept. 7, whether to retain Eastern War time or return to Eastern Standard time which was in effect here prior to the adoption of "fast" time Feb. 16, 1943.

Councilman-at-Large Fred A. Shaffer has told other members of council that he would like to see some action taken on the time question before school starts.

Council as a whole approved Member Arch Wentz' suggestion that the group wait until the next meeting to determine public sentiment.

CLEVELAND STRIKE COMES TO AN END

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—CIO steel workers returned to work in three American Steel and Wire Co. plants today, ending a work stoppage which halted production of war-needed raw materials and which had threatened to paralyze operations of two other steel plants in the area.

Spokesmen for the company, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, reported "75 per cent production" was resumed last night after the CIO United Steel Workers of America accepted a War Labor board back-to-work resolution calling upon unionists to end the strike.

Early today spokesmen said additional workers were returning to their jobs, and "it looks like full production by tonight."

James Adams, local union president, said the company had ordered the men to reinstate five of seven men suspended in a dispute which he said caused the walkout.

Approximately 800 workers in the firm's Cuyahoga works left their jobs Monday night, and were joined Tuesday and yesterday by steel workers from the American and Newburgh plants. About 4,200 workers were idle yesterday when the WLB conference convened.

Adams said the dispute arose over payment of premium pay for all Saturday work, regardless of hours previously worked in the week.

The company contended, however, that the union's contract required no premium for Saturdays unless the hours exceeded 40 for the week.

Report Nazi Heads Moving from Berlin

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The United Nations radio at Algiers today broadcast a Bern dispatch quoting Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter as saying that "the whole German government has left Berlin." The broadcast was recorded by The Associated Press.

There was no immediate explanation or confirmation of the report. The statement that the "whole German government" had moved came as a surprise in London, although there had been numerous unconfirmed reports the past three or four weeks that some governmental departments were being transferred.

These reports—none of which had any official confirmation—told of great vans being loaded at the doors of Berlin ministries and rolling away—possibly to Vienna, Linz or Breslau.

Neutral reports also have told of the moving of some governmental offices to Vienna shortly after the Germans announced that they were withdrawing non-essential civilians from Berlin.

Trustees, Clerks To Hold Outing at Columbiana

LISBON, Aug. 19.—The Columbiana County Trustees and Clerks association will hold its annual convention at Firestone park in Columbiana Thursday, Aug. 26, replacing the event usually held at the county home.

Judge H. W. Hammond is chairman of the committee in charge. Bert Van Fossen of East Liverpool is president of the group.

Congressman Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville will be guest speaker.

Hanoverton Farmer Fires At Prowler During Night

LISBON, Aug. 19.—Berlin Steel, farmer living northwest of Hanoverton, notified Sheriff George Hayes that he shot at a would-be thief whom he surprised at his farm last night.

The farmer believes the shot may have hit the man who escaped in a car, parked some distance from the house. Steel found empty sacks near a pen where several small pigs are kept.

LIMOGES POTTERY AT SEBRING SOLD

SEBRING, Aug. 19.—Sale of the Limoges China Co. here by the heirs of F. A. Sebring to the National Unit Distributors, Inc., of Boston and New York, was announced today.

H. L. Wok, assistant treasurer of the company, said the sale, for an undisclosed amount, involved only stock transfer. He added factory personnel would remain and reorganization would take place in a few weeks.

The Limoges firm was organized in 1904 and had been controlled by the Sebring family since then. The plant was a pioneer in the use of tunnel kilns.

ONLY A GOOD BEGINNING

Fall of Sicily was another step in the relentless onrush of the United Nations toward what was once referred to as Hitler's Europe and it was the beginning of the invasion of Axis homelands.

If the American and the British people get the idea that it is a decisive battle in this total war, it may prove to be no victory at all. If we let down in our efforts on the war front or on the home front because we have pushed the Nazis off the island or rounded them up in prison camps, it may even turn into a victory for Hitler's generals.

As War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes already has stated so pointedly we have met and defeated less than seven per cent of the combat divisions the enemy has in the European area. Even if Italy is knocked completely out of the war, as now seems inevitable, Germany will still have more combat divisions in Europe than the allies can bring against them at this time.

The United Nations armies have shown their striking power, first in Africa and then in Sicily. They have shown that, given enough equipment, they can meet and beat the best that the enemy can send against them.

If both of these theaters of action, however, we had overwhelming superiority in the air and possibly also in both manpower and in mechanical equipment, these being in the realm of military secrets. We will have this superiority when we push up through the Italian mainland. When we reach those areas where the Nazis will put up their real defense, we will retain superiority only if production and transport are kept at their highest levels.

Sicily is further proof that the American fighting man has no superior. Responsibility for maintaining the march to Berlin rests with the folks at home.

This newspaper receives many letters from service men. One now on the desk says: "I'm in a fine outfit and we're hoping to get into action soon." That is a sentiment practically all the letters from the fighting men express. There's no complaint about study and drilling up to 15 hours a day. There is only eagerness to get into the big job.

When the same spirit fills the home front this job will be over sooner than we think but a good beginning doesn't give any of us the right to think that the job is over and that we can begin to look upon the war as a picnic.

TOWN HALL MEETINGS

Decision of Salem's Town Hall committee to arrange another series of meetings for the coming fall and winter was based on the popularity of last season's initial venture. Several of the country's top-notch speakers were brought to the city and the plan is to bring men of equal fame here for the coming season.

Success of the plans being formulated, and the future of the Town Hall meetings, will depend upon response of the public. These meetings were started through the help of Dr. Brooks Emery former Salemite who is director of the Council on World Affairs in Cleveland. His generous contribution paid half of the expenses last year. In order that the meetings might be free to the public, the balance of the expense was underwritten by a group of Salem people.

While the plan is not to charge admission again the coming season, it is obvious that the best speakers cannot be brought to Salem without a generous response from the public. It will be necessary, therefore, that a large number of voluntary contributions be received to finance the meetings. Within the next few days letters will go out to a large list of people soliciting contributions. If any are missed in this manner, they may mail their money to the Town Hall committee. Such contributions may be deducted from income tax payments.

Sufficient interest was shown last season to convince the committee that the public is willing to support another series. The first series proved that the meetings can be not only entertaining but of definite public educational value. They can be continued on this high plane if the public is willing to support them.

THE CITY'S BUDGET

The city budget approved by council for 1944, showing a decrease of more than $18,000 below the present budget, assures a continuance of the low city tax rate which Salem property owners have been paying. This is made possible largely because so little is now required to pay for bonded indebtedness, now lower than it has been for many years.

It has been a long struggle to bring the city's bonded indebtedness down to its present low figure, and taxpayers may be thankful that they have had Karl Weber in the auditor's office as a watchdog over the finances. He has been almost solely responsible for whittling away the debt which was nearly a million dollars when he assumed office a few years ago.

Such a condition of city finances would be ideal if all the improvements necessary to progress and well-being of the citizens were being taken care of from year to year. Most people realize this has not been possible that many undertakings must be faced when the war is over. It is re-assuring now to know that the city can afford to go a little farther into debt to provide for these necessities. There will be street improvements, water and sewer extensions for the post-war period. The water supply problem must be met, and a new city hall cannot be shunted off indefinitely. Some provision should be started now to take care of these improvements later. With the city's finances in such excellent condition, some plan might be provided for building up a surplus fund earmarked for an improvement program.

MEMORIES OF LINDBERGH

Most of the world heard of LeBourget airport at Paris 16 years ago when Charles Lindbergh landed.

there on the first non stop solo Atlantic flight to mark a milestone in aviation history.

The world heard of it again when American Flying Fortresses made a visit to blast the airport which is now used by the Nazis for their own purposes.

Within the period encompassed by these dates lies most of the history of the development of aviation. Mr. Lindbergh made the flight by stripping his plane to the barest essentials, by a flying skill which won the acclaim of the world and by the greatest of good fortune. Today other planes fly the Atlantic in a procession of roaring winds and their passage is too commonplace to attract more than passing notice from the fishermen over whose boats they soar on their flight to England and thence to the embattled reaches of the skies.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, August 20

A PARTICULARLY auspicious time for seeking promotion, favors, and other tokens of good will and esteem from those in high places, either in business, employment or from group community or public officials. All should be kindly disposed, especially to those who have worked hard and faithfully for rewards of merit. The accent is placed this day on courtship, romance, popularity and charm, with all the claims of youth, its ideals and aspirations under splendid auguries for fulfillment.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of advancement, promotion, preferment and favors from those in power and authority, in employment, in public posts or with other influential personages. Seek such emoluments and aims with the force of personality, with charm and magnetic approach, as these are under splendid stimulus for achievement of hopes and wishes. Romance courtship or marriage should bring much practical satisfaction as well as youthful ideals and ambitions.

A child born on this day should have a successful and happy life, with possible honors and distinction, based on its innate talents as well as its charming and convincing personality. It may have an artistic or literary career.

Vandals who are reported stealing tomatoes from Victory gardens are not the type of pickers who have been asked to volunteer for work in the fields.

The increased number of persons studying meteorology should make it possible to provide a more satisfactory brand of post-war weather.

They may use radar for a good many valuable purposes, but it is hardly likely that any one will permit it to be used to test fourth term ambitions.

Scarcity of leather may bring back the old-fashioned carpet slipper, that once handy parental paddy.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Migraine Attacks Remain a Puzzle

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
AMONG THE most mysterious sort of maladies are the attacks which come along every once in a while with no warning and no apparent cause. I mean, for instance, what is called sick headache or migraine. Here a person is going along in the best of health and out of a clear sky, with no change in eating habits, no dissipation, no extra work or exertion, bing! he begins to have a headache that was meant for a hippopotamus.

Dr. Clendinging will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

These people resent this particular form of Nature's habits and I for one don't blame them. An earned headache is one thing. You know who is responsible and you take your medicine. Even a headache that you haven't exactly earned, one that comes from having caught a cold, you can take with a certain degree of philosophy because you know that is part of life and everyone has to bear such a burden once in a while.

These sick headaches, however, have just been wished on you, probably by some ancestor, and they are going to come every so often whether you sit up reading too late, or eat too much dinner, or have your wife's relatives in, and you just have to bear them. I don't have them myself, but I can understand the resentment of the person who does.

Other Periodical Attacks
There are other kinds of periodical attacks. One is a form of dizziness—Meniere's disease. Then there is intermittent rheumatism—hydroarthrosis. And, of course, intermittent attacks of muscular irritability—epilepsy.

Science is making some forward steps in the classification and treatment of this great group of paroxysmal maladies and naturally enough a certain relationship between them is found. Which is on the basis that they are allergic in character.

Taking the paroxysmal headache and the paroxysmal dizziness alone for purposes of comparison, it has been found that certain individuals in each group respond in a definite way to a drug called histamine. They constitute a sub-group because others with apparently identical symptoms do not react to histamine.

Histamine is found in many tissues of the body, but under normal circumstances is bound chemically so that it does not exert any physiological action. But if injected into the body in a fresh, unbound state it causes dilatation of the blood vessels and a fall of blood pressure. In animals in a state of allergy histamine is liberated in a free state from the liver.

Plan Registration
For Ration Book 4

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Nationwide registration for war ration book No. 4 will take place between Oct. 20 and Nov. 1, Edward F. Stegen, regional rationing executive, announced today.

Ration book No. 4 will be used to replace war book No. 3, but will be used briefly in conjunction with it.

The method by which the registration will be handled cannot be disclosed at this time, Stegen said.

The new No. 3 book will become effective on Sept. 12. Because it has only 4 pages of point value stamps, and no stamps equivalent to the blue stamps in book No. 2, its use will have to begin as soon as possible, Stegen said.

War book No. 3 carries point value stamps equivalent to the red stamps of book No. 2, and unit

WILDCAT 13 by TOM GILL

CHAPTER ONE

The great king vulture swooped lower. Barely grazing the leafy tips of the jungle, the giant bird balanced into the wind, then hovered, sinister and immobile, above that strange heap by the water hole.

A slightest motion down there, with a hollow flapping of wings, the vulture lighted on top of a termite's nest and waited, its cold, unblinking eyes never moving. Cautiously it hopped to the ground and, with naked neck craned forward, moved closer.

Already the jungle was awakening. In a near-by celba a spider monkey, chattering with excitement, climbed to the end of a limb and cocked an inquisitive head down at that huddled form.

Clouds sailed in white squadrons across the brightening sky; a wind, warm and heavy with the breath of rotting swamps, moved over the water hole, rippling the fernlike bamboo fronds, rustling the palm-tree palms to a furtive whispering. But with the first ray of sun, the wind ceased; the immense silence of jungle daybreak held the world, a silence that seemed to wait, to crouch in cold malevolence over that unmoving thing by the water hole.

In awkward sidewise hops the vulture ventured nearer. Within inches now, the wrinkled neck stretched forward, black beady eyes glittering. The heavy beak opened.

A squeak of fright from the monkey shattered the silence; wildly it scurried to the highest branches of the celba; wildly, too, the vulture flapped back to the termite nest—down by the water hole something had stirred.

Slowly, jerkily, a head raised, a man sat upright and looked about him with puffed, bloodshot eyes. The tangled hair was copper red; a stubble of beard covered the lean cheeks and square jaw. For an instant the head sagged uncertainly, then with huge hands he pulled himself to the stagnant pool and drank noisily, like an animal, slopping handfuls of water over his neck and inside his shirt.

"Better," His voice was a rasping whisper. "That's better." He rubbed his head to loosen the muscles of his aching neck, at sight of the watchful, waiting bird, his cracked lips opened.

"Stick around, you muck-eater. Maybe you'll get a bellyful soon—just maybe."

The vulture began preening its wings—there was no great hurry. Slightly the man pulled himself to his feet, picked up his knapsack, then moved back toward the trail, eyes fixed on the sun-baked earth. Yes, there they were, just as he had left them when darkness fell—three horse tracks, and more dimly still, the imprint of bare feet, all leading back into the jungle.

Moving more swiftly now, he passed down the trail, following the tracks with the quiet certainty of a hunting dog. The jungle closed in above him; the sun became only a faint green radiance; the trail wound its way about the buttressed bases of trees centuries old.

Better going now—his powerful body swinging along the trail with surprising absence of sound. A half-hour later he stopped. To his nostrils came the faintly acrid smell of wood smoke, and with redoubled caution he crept forward and parted the screen of palm leaves. A small clearing on the edge of a muddy stream, a fire still burning. His eyes caught the gleam of a patch of white.

Cautiously he circled. They hadn't broken camp yet—and there were more of them than he thought. Five men and three horses he counted; but why wasn't Spud among them? That gleam of white came from a canvas tarp strung over a bamboo pole to form a rough lean-to—they might be keeping Spud under there. Just now they were finishing breakfast, talking in low tones, too low for him to catch; and the watcher on the jungle's edge settled himself behind a clump of bamboo—it might be a long wait.

He watched them while they ate leisurely, as men who expected no pursuit. Their clothing was strikingly alike—straw combreros, leather sandals, and clothes grimy with the dust of travel. But the horses were thoroughbreds, and each man carried a machete. Presently cigarettes were lighted. Later still three of them saddled the horses and rode out over the trail. The red-haired man's eyes began glowing—only two remained.

Laying aside his knapsack, he crept nearer. He would have to get very close, and in spite of all his care he heard the dry leaves rustle beneath his slow advance. Still nearer. Then—he rose to his knees. From under the canvas lean-to came a low groan. Spud! Spud was there, and in pain! The impulse to rush and have it over with was almost too strong to resist, but he steadied himself. One man at a time was the only way.

Reluctantly he moved back until he blended with the deeper shadows of the jungle, and near the edge of the clearing caught sight of a heavy stake that might once have served to picket a horse. Quietly he worked it out of the ground—a clumsy weapon, but it would have to do. Sooner or later his chance was bound to come.

It came sooner than he expected. One of the guards had picked up a water bag and was strolling down to the stream while the other sat smoking, machete across his legs.

Like a cat the red-haired man moved across the trail. He waited until the guard scrambled down the bank, then crept to the stream's edge and looked over. Just beneath him he found his quarry, busy with the half-filled water bottle. For a second he poised, then dropped with hands and feet full on the fellow's unsuspecting back.

A shudder, a single shriek of mortal pain, and the man fell in his tracks.

But that outcry had been warning enough. Halfway up the gravelly bank the second guard was on him. The long machete swept in a glittering arc, and he flung himself backward, striking the water on his side as the steel flashed over him. Two strokes brought him to the bank. He could hear the other hacking his way toward him, and seizing a liana, pulled himself up just as his opponent's dark face emerged from among the palms.

No sudden rush this time. They began circling, eyeing each other warily, waiting for an opening. Twice the machete whirled, but each time the red-haired man gave ground—always back toward the camp. He wanted to turn his head, to make certain he was nearing the canvas tarp, but he didn't dare shift his eyes. At last he saw it like a white wall to the left, and with two quick steps he was behind it.

In that instant the man with the machete thought he saw his chance. Viciously he lunged—the canvas slit open, the blade tore its way through, striking nothing.

And now two huge freckled hands had ripped the canvas loose, and wrapped it like a giant cocoon about the other's head. Blinded, the man struggled, but pitilessly those entangling folds were tightening. The red-haired man stepped forward. Swiftly he raised that squirming, grotesque figure; for one sickening second he held it high above his head, then hurled it to the ground. The hand that grasped the machete opened, then slowly closed. The form beneath the tarp was limp.

Gasping for breath, the red-haired man stood for a moment in the trail; gradually the pounding of his heart quieted, and he listened—no sound in all that jungle world.

He turned. A rough grass bed had been thrown together beneath the tarp, and on it a man lay—the face was pallid, the eyes closed. The red-haired man knelt.

"How goes it, Spud?" Fear muted his voice, and anxiously he waited. "Spud, can't you talk?" His blood-shot eyes had gone very tender, his fingers touched the bloody gash that matted down Spud's grizzled hair.

His words brought a slow response. The eyes of the older man fluttered open, the swollen lips tried to smile.

"How goes it, Spud?" "There's a brass band inside my head."

"I know. They bumped you plenty."

"What happened?" "They found our camp—five of them. I trailed you."

"Did they get the map?" "Not a chance."

Weakly Spud sat up. "It looks good, Drew?"

"So good I'm afraid to think. Maybe the richest field in South America. It—" He looked again toward the dark, thorn-matted jungle. "If we ever have a chance to tell about it."

He wiped his mouth with the back of a freckled hand and slung the knapsack over his shoulder. "Let's get going before the rest of the outfit come back. They'll be after us soon enough."

"I can't walk much, Drew."

"You don't have to. Slip an arm around my neck. . . . Attaboy. Steady."

Drew's muscles creaked as he struggled to his feet; and, lifting his companion bodily, he moved with short, unsteady steps up the trail.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Church Class Is Entertained By Mrs. Byers

Mrs. Guy Byers was hostess to members of the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church at a wienie roast at her home on E. State st. Games and group singing were enjoyed and a talk was given by W. H. Matthews.

The committee in charge included Mrs. John Wilker, Mrs. John Calm, Mrs. E. S. Eids, Mrs. Joseph D. Moore, Mrs. Russell Moore and Mrs. Richard W. Wice.

The next night will be observed Sept. 15 at the church.

Reed-Gross Marriage Held At Texas Camp

Wedded Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed, 992 E. Fourth st., became the bride of Pvt. Max Gross Aug. 7 at the third chapel at Camp Wolters, Texas. Rev. Cowan officiated while a group of soldiers sang "O Promise Me" and "Because God Made Three Mine".

They were attended by Miss Sylvia Rutter of Salem and Pvt. Robert Beattie of Camp Wolters, Texas. Pvt. and Mrs. William Rutter of Camp Wolters and Miss E. Pauline of Salem attended the wedding.

The bride wore a flowered chiffon dress with green and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Rutter wore a flowered ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was gardenias.

Refreshments were served to members of the bridal party at Co. D barracks.

Mrs. Gross is a graduate of Salem High school and is employed by the Gonda Engineering Co. Pvt. Gross was employed at the Paris Cleaners plant before recently entering the Army.

Party Is Held For Recent Bride

Mrs. Walter P. Baker, the former Norma Mae Miller, daughter of Mrs. Bryda Miller of Hanoverton, was honored recently with a surprise shower in the dining room at the Hanoverton Christian church.

The party was given by Misses Jan Loudon, Margaret Bower and Mrs. Lois Fassenmeyer. Mrs. Clyde Bennett of Winona entertained with several vocal selections and Mrs. Mary Morgan and Mrs. Ann Archibald of Kensington sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Alta Roach.

A piano solo was given by Miss Katherine Loudon and a reading by Mrs. Walter Holmes of Winona after which gifts were presented to Mrs. Baker.

Refreshments were served at a patently decorated table during the party.

Thirty-one guests were present from Winona, Salem, Kensington, Minerva, New York and Hanoverton.

Birthdays Celebrated By Seco Members

Members of the Seco club of the Salem Engineering Co. enjoyed a dinner Tuesday evening at the Lape hotel in honor of the birthdays of Mrs. Enid Zorbaugh, Miss Mary Nedelka and Mrs. Kenneth Fitzgerald.

The table was attractive with flowers and individual candlelit cake at each place as the favors.

Gifts were presented to the honored guests, after which a social time was enjoyed with prizes going to Mrs. Hutchison and Miss Wilma Stanley.

Club Entertained At Whitehill Home

Mrs. Glenn Whitehill entertained club associates last evening at her home on Woodland ave.

Prizes in "500" were awarded to Mrs. John Nestor and Mrs. Edward Jeffries. Mrs. Harold Closs and Mrs. Nestor were guests.

The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Miss Mildred Barber on the Damascus rd.

Mrs. Paul Bradley Entertains Club

Mrs. Paul Bradley entertained members of the Maids of Salem last evening at her home on Homewood ave.

The evening was spent informally and buffet refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 25 at the home of Miss Betty Walton on N. Lincoln ave.

W. C. T. U. Plans Visit To County Home Sunday

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union who will entertain inmates at the Columbiana county home in Lisbon Sunday are asked to meet at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. H. Cobbs, 318 E. Third st.

The meeting was not held a week ago as erroneously reported.

Rebekahs Will Meet Friday Evening

Home lodge No. 10, Daughters of Rebekah, will meet at 7:45 p. m. Friday at the Odd Fellows hall. Members of the degree staff are requested to be present for rehearsal.

Sorority Will Hold Picnic On Tuesday

The annual Beta Sigma Phi sorority picnic will be held Tuesday at the Salem Country club.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Boarts have returned to their home on E. Third st. after spending the week with their grandson, Lieut. Richard B. Jones, who is stationed with the coast artillery at Boston, Mass. They were accompanied home by another grandson, Norman Calvin Hirst, who had been visiting there for the past six weeks.

Garden Club to Meet At Byers Home

Mrs. Guy Byers will entertain members of the Salem Garden club at a tea in her garden at 3 p. m. Monday. A book review by Mrs. Irene Matthews will feature the program and tea will be served by Mrs. C. L. Flickinger and her committee.

Mrs. Kathryn Pike, who has been employed in the office of the probate court at Lisbon, has accepted a position as stenographer in the office of Atty Henry Reese.

E. M. Leggett has returned to his home on N. Howard ave. after spending a five-day visit with his son, Seaman Second Class Omar Leggett at Portsmouth, Va.

Miss Patty Cowley of Hudson is a guest at the home of Miss Priscilla Beery on N. Ellsworth ave.

Teaching Staff For Schools In Smith Township Complete

SEBRING, Aug. 19.—Teaching staffs of Smith township schools have been completed by the board of education with the appointment of three new instructors. Schools will open Sept. 7.

New teachers hired are: Betty Akenhead of Sebring, Mrs. Sara Cromer of Columbiana and Miss Ruth Banfield of Austintown. They will replace four teachers who are resigning.

Miss Akenhead, who will teach the seventh grade in the Maple Ridge school, replaces Miss Maude Snyder of Alliance, R. D. 4. Mrs. Sara Cromer of Columbiana will teach in the Westville one-room building, replacing Mrs. Freda Peley of Damascus. Miss Ruth Banfield of Austintown has been hired as music supervisor to teach in all the buildings. She replaces Charles Best of Beloit.

Since the Uniontown school in the northwest section of the township has been closed, it was not necessary to hire a fourth teacher. Miss Lucille Greenstein of Garfield, who taught the third and fourth grades of Maple Ridge school last year, also resigned.

The board adopted a budget of $27,963 for general operating expenses for the year.

WAC's Diary

No Hot Water; This Is War

By CORP. TRUDY WHITMAN

Two sergeants have us in their charge. We were all impressed favorably from the start. These gals are competent, helpful and always pleasant. They are strictly G. I. highest rating of WAC approval. They taught us how to make a bed, but properly; how to clean the barracks, but thoroughly; and how to stand inspection.

This is not as simple as it sounds. All of us think we are reasonably neat and tidy but the Army has a way of saying "just so." And the way is no other way, no reasonable compromise.

Many mothers back home would be surprised and pleased to see how fast their pampered darlings learn to condense their personal property into a minimum of space; how they reach out for an elusive piece of dust just before the officer comes through for inspection; how adept they become, overnight, with broom and mop and how fast and generously they cooperate.

Cooperation is the first essential for a happy life in the army. We learn on the double that it does no good to have our own bed pulled tight, unless everyone's bed is just as tight and proper. A mark against one of us, in inspection or anything else is a mark against us all. We are a unit now. There's no point to rugged individualism here.

In the reception area, we are getting a better taste of what lies ahead; a little drilling, so we won't start basic training cold, but not too much, so we'll have some spirit left to take it!

The more examinations—horrible things! The gals who came out smiling got a suspicious eye from the rest of us. We just don't believe that anyone is that smart. In addition to the General Army Classification Test, there was a neat number, most appropriately entitled Mechanical Aptitude; and another radio aptitude test that had us all panting.

The next day we were interviewed—and it is obvious that an effort will be made to fit us into our future jobs, instead of vice versa. We were given full opportunity to tell what we had done in civilian life, what we thought we could do and what we thought we would like to do in the WAC.

"Releasing a man for combat duty." That's the silent refrain that underlies our every activity and finds us tackling the dirty chores with vigor if not enthusiasm. We smile when we swear about the cold water. No one really gosses. Those who make wise cracks hasten to add a covering phrase lest someone think they mean it.

We are gay in spirit and serious in purpose. We are from various sections of the country; we are all ages, sizes and shapes. We're a swell bunch of gals. We'll be wonderful WACs.

Meat Stocks Greater

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Stocks of meat held in storage warehouses and meat packing plants in the nation showed a substantial increase during July, reversing the usual trend for that month, the War Food administration has announced.

Frozen and cured meats on hand Aug. 1, the WFA said, totaled 755,700,000 pounds. This was 124,600,000 pounds above the Aug. 1, 1942, stocks and 135,600,000 pounds above the Aug. 1 average for 1938-42.

Three Candidates File for Cleveland Mayoralty Bid

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—Three candidates will seek the two nominations for mayor of Cleveland to be decided at the non-partisan municipal primary Sept. 28.

As the deadline for filing for the office passed early today, the board of elections announced nominating petitions had been received from Frank J. Lausche, Democratic incumbent; Edward C. Stanton, Republican; former prosecutor of Cuyahoga county, and Herman C. Schach, Independent Republican, a former city street department employee.

Night of Horrors On Pacific Island Told by Reporter

(An Associated Press war correspondent, J. Norman Lodge, rode with U. S. amphibious forces in the invasion of Vella Lavella in the Solomons Aug. 15. He vividly describes a "night of horrors" in the following dispatch.)

By J. NORMAN LODGE
AT ADVANCED AMPHIBIOUS FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOLOMONS, Aug. 17.—(Delayed.)—History will never capture the "night of horrors" as scantily-armed American landing craft came safely through a 22-hour bombing by the Japanese.

Every one of us who was along is now living on borrowed time. We owe it to the Deity who rode our ships from a new invasion beachhead at Vella Lavella to this base.

I was the only correspondent of 10 present who chose to make the trip on this craft—the Ugly Duckling of the Navy. Some of these boats have repaid the government's outlay twenty fold, and are still afloat, ready again to carry provisions to outposts deep in Japanese territory.

As an example of what frail craft endured, I'll cite only the period of landing our invasion force and the comparative safety of Savo island, off Guadalcanal, enroute "home".

Undergo 14 Raids
There were 14 separate air raids, and during each one strings of bombs were dropped. And there were air attacks every hour during the time we were beached at Vella Lavella.

American fighting men, many of whom had never been on salt water a year ago, stood by their guns and poured bullets of all calibers into the best aircraft the Nipponese have.

And for their devotion to duty, 14 known Nip aircraft never will harass American ships again. We lost not one man killed and only a few slightly wounded, those enroute home during the night attacks that kept us under bombings from 5:40 on the night of Aug. 15 until 6:25 on the clear morning of Aug. 16.

There have been naval battles before. But they were battles. We were not fighting craft, just slow targets.

More than 500 men came through the "night of horrors" and wrote a new saga and a proud one in the annals of naval history.

A quick look at the 24-hour melee shows the Japs used high altitude bombers, skip bombers, dive bombers, Zero strafers and terroristic tactics of dropping thousands of flares on moonlit seas while our lumbering craft outwitted and outnerved Hirohito's airforce.

They threw the book at us but we leisurely turned the pages. They created their idea of a reign of terror, yet not a single man left his post for relief. Some of the men went four nights without sleep.

Miss Wang Hostess
Month's business meeting and social of the Lutheran League was held at the home of Marjorie Wang Monday evening. Miss Jane Berger was in charge of the devotional session, after which games were enjoyed. Mrs. Paul Wang, Marjorie's mother, served refreshments.

Whitewater family reunion was held at Lake Placid Sunday. A pleasant feature of this reunion is the reading of letters from absent relatives from many states. George R. Floyd of Alliance was re-elected president and Mrs. Rena White-cother, secretary-treasurer. The 1944 reunion will be held at Lake Placid in the third Sunday in August.

Shortage of Ships Is Felt In Japan

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—An acute shipping shortage resulting largely from Allied torpedoes, shells and bombs is making it difficult for Japan to get at her newly-won East Indian riches.

The Netherlands Information bureau estimated today, on the basis of Tokyo broadcasts and information available to Australia that the Japanese had suffered a net loss of 500,000 to 750,000 tons of merchant shipping since the war began.

The Japanese have said on several occasions they needed 20,000-

000 tons or more of merchant shipping to exploit the conquered areas. Yet Japan had only 6,000,000 tons of merchant ships at the end of 1941, and since then she has built only an estimated 600,000 to 700,000 tons.

In addition she has captured perhaps 500,000 tons, the bureau added, but nearly 2,000,000 tons of Japanese cargo ships are reported to have been sunk by the Allies.

To remedy this shortage, the Netherlands report said Japan is trying as never before to step up ship construction at home, in Hongkong and throughout south-east Asia.

Short of steel, they have concentrated on building wooden ships.

Washington Senators Get Harlond Clift From Browns

GRIFFITHS' TEAM EXPECTED TO END YEAR IN SECOND

It Will Be Jump for Senators Who Finished Seventh Last Season

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way the rivals of the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees are reacting to the unexpected sweep of these two clubs to the major league pennants is a topic that may interest the class today.

Some still are trying to strengthen themselves for the present season, some are trying to rebuild for next year and some simply are waiting for the schedule to end.

The Washington Senators are the prize example of the first group. It would take a miracle to move the Senators ahead of the Yankees, but Clark Griffith isn't overlooking any chances. Yesterday he finally put through a deal with the St. Louis Browns for Third Baseman Harlond Clift and Pitcher John Niggeling.

The old fox, who was a slick trader before Branch Rickey's name became synonymous with big deals, has been trying to get Clift for at least two years and if he had been able to land him to plug the Senators' gap at third base a month ago, might have managed to make a race in the American league this year.

As it is, the deal quite likely will let the Senators finish second, a jump from seventh place last year. They lost their runner-up shot yesterday, though, by dividing a doubleheader at Chicago. The White Sox noosed them out in the first game 3-2 in 14 innings, but Washington rallied to win the nightcap 4-2. The Senators made ten double plays in the two games.

The Yankees were ambushed by the Cleveland Indians 9-8 and 7-5 in morning and afternoon games and this feat enabled the Tribe to move up to second place.

The Philadelphia Athletics, who stand out among the clubs that are merely marking time till the season ends, dropped their 12th consecutive game 4-0 in the face of a five-hit pitching performance by Bob Murrier of the Browns and the Detroit Tigers nosed out the Boston Red Sox 1-0.

The Brooklyn Dodgers tried out two youngsters on the mound yesterday and dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Chicago Cubs 7-5 and 15-8.

St. Louis 6-3, Philadelphia 0-6.

Games Today and Tomorrow
Pittsburgh at New York.
Cincinnati at Boston.
St. Louis at Philadelphia, night game tonight.
Chicago at Brooklyn, twilight game today.

Hal Gergg and Red Barney, two youngsters who had reported from Montreal only a few hours earlier in the day, started the games for the Dodgers and each gave four hits and six walks in addition to some wild pitches before they were eliminated in the early innings.

The St. Louis Cardinals divided a mid-day doubleheader at Philadelphia, winning the first game 6-0, and dropping the second game 6-3. Cincinnati split a doubleheader at Boston, winning 5-0 for Bucky Walters after losing 4-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates split with the New York Giants. A single by Pete Coscarart in the tenth gave Hank Cornick his third win in two days 7-6 in the opener and Carl Hubbell won the nightcap 3-2.

REDS COULD GIVE CARDS SCARE IF THINGS WENT RIGHT

Cincinnati, In 2nd Place, Trailing St. Louis By 11 1/2 Games

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—It could be that the Cincinnati Reds might under certain circumstances and if everything broke right and all other things being equal, give the St. Louis Cardinals a scare for that National league pennant this year.

They are in second place, only a trifle of 11 1/2 games behind the Cards, and apparently in no immediate mood of reducing their present pace, in which they have won seven of their last eight games and apparently broken for good from the 500 swamps.

Somebody said a few weeks ago that what the National league needed was another "miracle team" like George Stallings' Boston Braves of 1914 (last place to first) and it would be funny if the Reds were it.

The Boston Braves of 1943 broke the Reds' six-game winning streak yesterday in the top of a doubleheader, 4 to 3, but the Reds picked up behind Bucky Walters' seven-inning pitching for 5 to 0 in the nightcap.

For Bucky it was his fifth straight win after some rocky early season going, and if Bucky is going places at last, so also maybe are the Reds.

Ray Starr for the Reds and Red Barrett for the Braves are today's pitchers.

SPORT CHATTER

By SID FEDER

(Pinch-hitting for Hugh Fullerton)
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Billy Southworth says his St. Louis apartment is so close to Leo Durocher's, he can toss a rock in the Lip's window. . . . But he hasn't tried it lately—he doesn't have to. . . . Steve Hamas, the ex-heavyweight, has just written a book on "Stratosphere Stamina" that's being distributed to all Army pilots in training. . . . Steve's an Air Force lieutenant now. . . . Vern Miller, who couldn't get below 300 playing tackle for Harvard, has shaved off 30 pounds during his basic training at Keesler field, Miss.

Headline: 20 of 34 Original gone since Rickey came to Brooklyn town. He's sliced the Dodger payroll down. Of 34 who started out, Just 14 Bums are still about. If better slices you are seeking, You must look far to beat the Deacon.

KAHAKI-AND-BLUE STUFF—The stork dropped in on the Harry Hays' (he's the ex-Tulane footballer) at Mesa, Ariz., the other day. . . . Since papa's in the Air Force, he immediately tagged the new arrival "Roger Wilco Hays". . . . Roger stands for "okay" and Wilco for "will comply" among fliers. . . . Couple of soldier-boy letters arrived wondering how about Billy Conn on that Joe Louis tour. . . . Scuttlebutt tip is that Freddie Hutchinson, who cost the Tigers $70,000 as a pitcher, is going to switch to catching when he takes off his sailor suit. . . . Ben Hogan, the little guy with the long drive, and Long John Winsett, the ex-Red socker and Dodger, are Air Force OCS in Miami. . . .

NO BARNEY—EVEN IN BLARNEY
Cable from Belfast tells about the umpire, handling a game between the Eighth U. S. Air Force and a U. S. Army team tagged the North Ireland Blues, who put himself out of the game. . . . Seems the Bums were questioning everything from his eyesight to his ancestry. . . . He took it for 10 scoreless frames, then announced, "It ain't worth it"—and walked out. . . . Another guy finished up and the Blues won 1-0, if you're interested. . . .

HIT-AND-RUN—Cubs Scout Jack Doyle tells John Carmichael, Chicago News sports ed, that Bill Sarni, Los Angeles' 15-year-old catcher, is farther along now than Gabby Hartnett was at the same stage and age. . . . The Pimlico futurity may have a $40,000 pot for the two-year olds this fall. . . . The Army's youngest general, 35-year-old Brig. Gen. William E. Hall, was the center on Red Eagle's West Point powerhouse in the '20's. . . . He's the Air Force deputy chief of staff. . . . Lou Little has a halfback at Columbia named Ted Meier, who is not to be confused with our A.P. sidekick of the same name. . . . Our Ted's build makes him an automatic stationary guard. . . .

KNIFE-AND-FORK SPORTS—One soldier correspondent writes: "The mess-hall here features home cooking. . . . One meal, and you wish you were home cooking." . . .

It is estimated that the growth of speech was such a slow process that grammatical forms and the expression of abstract ideas came only 400 or 500 generations ago. . . . Wartime restrictions on gasoline have roiled back the death toll of motor vehicle accidents back to what it was two decades ago.

Jeff Heath's Practice Puts Tribe Back In Second Place

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—The Cleveland Indians were back in second place today and Jeff Heath had the satisfaction of seeing an experiment prove successful.

The muscular outfielder attempted to increase his production at the plate by resorting to a private, after-hours batting practice session earlier this week and the results were evident yesterday as the Redskins edged the New York Yankees 9 to 8 and 7 to 5 in a morning-afternoon double header.

Heath started the Tribesmen off with a two-run homer in the pre-lunch engagement and broke up the 14-inning nightcap with another round-tripper. His day's total of runs batted in amounted to seven.

The second game blast climaxed an uphill battle in which the Indians came from behind twice to tie the score. The league leaders had a 4 to 1 advantage as the Tribesmen came to bat in the ninth, but a walk to pinch-hitter Pat Seery, doubles by Roy Cullenbine and Manager Lou Boudreau and a three-bagger by Heath knotted the score.

Charley Keller broke the deadlock with a homer in the 13th but the Redskins evened it again when Mickey Rocco doubled, took third on Boudreau's infield out and crossed the plate on Ray Mack's long fly. Heath's double provided the clinchers in the 14th.

The clubs move from league park to the lakefront stadium for the third game of the series tonight. Allie Reynolds will oppose the Yanks' Tiny Bonham.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—The odds that Bob Montgomery will beat Flat-nosed Fritzle Zivic in Shibe park come Monday night are sagging which doesn't please the cunning crot in the slightest.

"I like the other guy to be favored," protested Zivic, who habitually backs up his confidence in himself with coin. "I make more money that way."

Nevertheless Fritzle, a 4-1 underdog until he knocked out Young Kid McCoy two weeks ago, was considered an increasingly good bet to make the Bobcat glad that his New York and Pennsylvania lightweight titles won't be on the line.

Find's Football Lessons Help In Marine Training
PHILADELPHIA—Bert Kuczynski, captain of the 1942 Pennsylvania football team, finds his football training is paying dividends as he trains to become a Marine officer at Parris Island.

In a recent letter to George Munger, head coach of the Red and Blue, Kuczynski wrote that the scrimmages and other contact work in football built him up physically to stand the strain of 10 to 12 hours of daily physical exertion at the Marine camp. Munger said he averages about a dozen letters a week from men in the service who learned their gridiron lessons under him and all have said the training proved helpful.

 Beautiful suburban all modern home in A-1 condition, nicely located on paved highway just out of Salem. Ten acres of fertile land, three acres young bearing orchard and abundance of shade. A good barn and all necessary outbuildings. A wonderful truck and chicken farm and a beautiful place to live. See me for particulars.

HARRY ALBRIGHT, EXCLUSIVE AGENT
 156 So. Lincoln For the Above Properties Dial 3237

THIS SPLENDID SUBURBAN PROPERTY WILL GIVE YOU A CHANCE TO ENJOY LIFE AND WATCH THE WORLD GO BY!

Sixty-three acres located on paved road about four miles from Columbiana. This is one beautiful spot and would make an ideal home for the city man. Abundance of nice shade trees around the home. This is where the birds awaken you in the mornings. Wonderful place for a dam where you could have your own fish pond. Nice stream runs right down through the valley so that you could put in a dam at very little expense. Nice little grove of about three acres of timber—ash red oak and beech.

Is improved with nine-room house with electric, furnace and bath. Also has another 6-room house with electric, furnace and bath. Good barn and chicken house. Fruit for home use.

Now, if you want a real home that the entire family will enjoy, you should buy this property. Would be ideal place for the person who wanted to keep a few riding horses and ponies. Priced for immediate action at only $9,500.

For more particulars, call me at the office from 9:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Please do not call me at my home.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE ZMIEV FROM NAZIS

Red Army Crosses Donets River To Seize German Stronghold

has been going on for the better part of a week.

In the wheeling movement south of Kharkov, which took them across the Donets river to Zmiev, the Soviet battalions were said to have scooped up great quantities of enemy war material, including mortar batteries, machineguns and trucks which the Germans left behind in their hasty retreat.

Gains in the Kharkov area were made against fresh reserves which had been thrown into action by the German command.

LOCKS DAUGHTER, 13, IN SHED FOR 18 DAYS

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Accused of locking his 13-year-old step-daughter in a concrete-floored shed behind his home for 18 days "for punishment," Thomas Brennan, 45, will appear in Long Island city court tomorrow on a charge of endangering the health of a minor.

The girl, Catherine Fitzpatrick, was discovered in the shanty by police after neighbors complained that a child was crying. She said she had been in the shed since Aug. 1 and let out "only to do the family washing."

"But they fed me every day," the girl told police. "I had two bits of bread and a cup of tea today."

Brennan pleaded innocent when arraigned yesterday and was paroled. He admitted, however, that he locked the girl in the shed 12 days ago at his wife's request.

Mrs. Brennan said, "I couldn't watch the other six children and her, too. . . . She runs away on us."

Magistrate Jenkin R. Hooker visited the shed, after which he remarked: "It was like a page from Dickens."

AKRON, BARBERTON STRIKES ARE HALTED

AKRON, Aug. 19.—Strikes at the Goodyear Aircraft Corp. here and at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.'s Columbia Chemical plant in nearby Barberton were ended today, as CIO unionists started back to work in response to union and War Labor board plans, Federal Conciliator Paul Fisher reported.

Fuller said CIO United Automobile Workers started back to their jobs at midnight in the Goodyear strike, which he said was caused by a dispute over piece-work rates.

Nearly 600 wheel and brake assemblymen participated in the three-day work stoppage.

At Barberton, United Chemical workers returned to work yesterday, after an official of district 50, United Mine Workers of America, with which the workers are affiliated, demanded an end to the walkout.

The strike was caused, Fuller said, by a dispute over the War bond checkoff system.

CONFERENCE SEEN INVASION PRELUDE

Speed-Up of Allied Plans Likely To Result From Quebec Meeting

the motivation behind the latest hue and cry in Moscow for a "second front." The line taken by the army newspaper Red Star is that the struggle for Sicily had failed to divert "a single German division from the Soviet front."

How far this reflected Premier Stalin's views, of course, was not known, but it was interpreted as suggesting a plea for help, an argument that if the Allies want the present tide to continue against Germany they must act, and act soon. Whatever plans for invasion are in progress were made months ago, but it would be the function of the combined chiefs of staff and the final decision of the President and prime minister up in order to take full advantage of the present situation.

When their directives are shaped they will, as has been customary in the past, be communicated with all possible speed to Stalin.

There is considerable belief that the highly important task of courier has been delegated to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who arrived yesterday.

Eden's presence also gave rise to speculation the conference might undertake the solution of some of the multiplying political problems arising out of the swift movements of events in Europe. The possibility that Secretary of State Cordell Hull may come here from Washington served to emphasize the potential political aspects of the meeting.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

not await any forthcoming large, serious operations by the Allies on the continent," says Red Star. All this is set forth by the newspaper with direct reference to the Quebec conference, and of course anything published in Red Star represents the government view.

This being so, Moscow isn't likely to get great satisfaction out of the news that American warships today were shelling the Italian mainland. Such a bombardment would be an essential preliminary to an invasion of the peninsula, though it doesn't necessarily forecast such an operation. Even if it does presage invasion of the foot, it doesn't preclude invasion elsewhere as well.

Anyway, the point is that Russia's main interest is in an invasion of western Europe and not of Italy. So far as Quebec is concerned, the need of a land front in western Europe at the earliest feasible moment was conceded long ago by the Allied high command. Therefore, the problem of Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill and their advisers isn't whether there should be such a front but when it will be feasible to establish it.

The Russian report that the Germans are trying to find an opening for a counter-offensive in the Kharkov sector is vastly important. It may mark Hitler's supreme effort to save his blood-soaked line. If so, we are likely to see some of the most terrific fighting of the whole war.

Some Interned Japs Still Profess Loyalty to Tokyo

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Disloyal Japanese still are disloyal and are making no bones about it. Robert B. Cozzens, assistant director of the War Relocation authority, in an interview today said nearly all of the minority of interned Japanese—those who professed sympathy for Japan in a registration six months ago—say they still are of that mind.

"People who made up their minds during registration are sticking to it," he said, and "it looks like segregation is going to be successful."

Originally, some 110,000 Japanese were evacuated from the coastal area and placed in 10 relocation centers. Some have been released to take jobs.

EUROPE IS WARNED OF NEAR INVASION

Broadcast From Algiers Stresses Importance of Communication

do her best to keep Italy in the war, and would make a determined stand at the Brenner pass in the north.

German commentators kept up a chatter about an invasion fleet massing in the Mediterranean.

Say Eisenhower Ready

A Berlin broadcast recorded by The Associated Press asserted 22 Allied ships with a total tonnage of 138,000 were damaged Tuesday night by German planes in a raid on the Tunisian port of Bizerte after a major concentration had been observed there. (There was no Allied confirmation of such a raid.) The Madrid radio, in a broadcast last night heard by The Associated Press, quoted "informed circles" as saying Gen. Dwight Eisenhower had messaged President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill that Allied armies were ready for immediate invasion. The same circles were said to believe the time was only a few hours off.

This broadcast may have been a version of Eisenhower's statement of yesterday in which he said both the American Seventh and British Eighth armies "are ready to go at any minute."

CBS recorded a London broadcast which said the United Nations radio had instructed the people of Reggio Calabria in southern Italy how to disrupt telephone communications vital to German troops who escaped from Italy.)

Liquor Rationing Period Extended to Six Weeks

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19.—The state liquor department has extended Ohio's retail bottled liquor rationing period, starting Aug. 23, to almost six weeks, instead of four, and boosted the ration unit to include one-fifth, quart or two pints of whiskey plus a like amount of rum, brandy or cordials.

Liquor Director Don Fisher said the next ration period would end Sept. 30, totaling 39 days.

The change, Fisher explained, is designed to place the state on a straight calendar-month basis, thus bringing the department's distribution period in line with the allocation period of liquor suppliers.

Fisher said the change also was adopted "to avoid closing each period on a Saturday night so as to distribute the selling load more evenly over the period."

Stoves To Be Rationed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Nation wide rationing of new domestic heating and cooking stoves which burn coal, wood, oil or gas will begin Aug. 24, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The program will supplant the present rationing of coal and wood heating stoves in 32 states and the District of Columbia.

Seeks Re-election

NEW WATERFORD, Aug. 19.—Mayor John E. Dreher today filed a non-partisan nominating petition with the Columbiana county board of elections for re-election Nov. 2.

DEATHS

MRS. CLARENCE E. BARRETT EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 19.—Funeral service was held this afternoon at the Martin funeral home for Mrs. Lea Sayre Barrett, 61, wife of Clarence E. Barrett of 528 Elizabeth st., who died at East Liverpool City hospital Tuesday.

Interment was in Calcutta United Presbyterian church cemetery. She was born at Big Bend, Meigs county, and resided in this vicinity for 13 years. She was a member of the Oakland Free Methodist church.

In addition to her husband, survivors include three sons, William D. Barrett and Arleigh E. Barrett of East Liverpool and James C. Barrett of Newell; two brothers, T. A. Sayre of Damascus and H. E. Sayre of Brondale, and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Pierson of Wampum, Pa., and Mrs. Hanna A. Carroll of East Liverpool.

CHARLES H. MOWEN

ATWATER, Aug. 19.—Charles Henry Mowen, 59, lifelong resident of Atwater and custodian of the school and Methodist church, was found dead at his home Tuesday. He had been ill of a heart ailment.

Surviving are his wife, Jennie Louisa Mowen; two sons, Alton of Beloit and Pvt. Howard A. Mowen, in North Africa, where he is a French interpreter, a granddaughter, and a sister, Mrs. Bertha Van Arman, of Syracuse, N. Y.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Methodist church. Rev. John W. Bart-rug, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in the Atwater cemetery.

NAZIS CLAIM ALLIED LOSSES ARE HIGH

(By Associated Press)

The German high command asserted today about one-third of the Allied troops engaged in the Sicilian campaign had been killed or wounded, in addition to "large numbers" captured and that material and shipping losses of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command were heavy.

The Allied disclosure that the casualty ratio favored the Americans, British and Canadians more than six-to-one was ignored in the Nazi communique, broadcast from Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press.

The communique said 383 Allied tank and scout cars, 63 guns, 652 planes and 11 transport gliders were destroyed or captured.

Without confirmation from Allied authorities, the enemy bulletin continued: "Sixty-one transports, mostly loaded with men and war materials, of 290,100 tons were sunk, as well as one cruiser, seven destroyers, three corvettes and numerous motor gunboats and minor war vessels."
